

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.

NEW YORK.

Mrs. Humphreys
Is Married Again,
Surprising Friends

Former Wife of Mr. Frederic P. Humphreys Bride of Mr. Harold Wilson Brooks.

Mrs. Dorothy Arens Humphreys was married to Mr. Harold Wilson Brooks yesterday at noon in the apartment of her grandmother, Mrs. George Arens, at 520 Fifth avenue, in the presence of a few relatives and friends. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. George Arens, Jr.

News of the marriage will come as a surprise to many friends, as few even knew that they were engaged. Mrs. Steward Davis, one of the bride's most intimate friends, was present and Mr. Ernest Brooks, Jr., served as best man for his brother.

The bride and her first husband, Mr. Frederic P. Humphreys, of New York and Morristown, were divorced last spring. They had been married several years and have one son, Arens Humphreys. Their wedding followed an elopement.

Mr. Brooks and his bride will sail to-day on the Aquitania and return abroad until next spring, when they will go for the summer to the Robertson villa in Southampton, which Mrs. Humphreys occupied the past season.

Mr. Brooks is a son of Mr. Ernest Brooks of 25 East Sixty-ninth street, who divides his time between New York and Cuba. He graduated from Yale in 1909 and during the war he was an ensign in the navy, serving on one of the destroyers. He is a member of the Racquet and Tennis, the Rockaway Hunting and the Turf and Field clubs.

LADY WOLESLEY HERE
TO AID KINSHIP KLAN
Marquis of Northampton Also on the Baltic.

Among the passengers arriving here yesterday aboard the Baltic of the White Star Line were the Marquis and Marchioness of Northampton, who are on their way to the South Sea Islands. They will stay at the Ritz-Carlton for a few days and then go on to San Francisco and Honolulu. This is the first group of Pacific islands that the young couple will look over, and after that the Marquis said that they probably would "see them all." He admitted that the recent flood of South Sea fiction was largely responsible for his interest in the islands of the Pacific.

Lady Capal Wolesley arrived to promote her organization of a Kinship Klan, which aims to bring Americans and Englishmen—men and women—into closer friendship.

Major Ian Hay, better known as Ian Hay, author and lecturer, arrived for a holiday of three weeks. He said in his latest novel, "The Willing Hand," was ready for publication here. He brought two plays along which will come out in London this season, "Apron Strings," a domestic comedy, and an unnamed light comedy.

William S. Miller, steamship owner of Glasgow, arrived with Mrs. Miller to attend the Horse Show, where he will judge a number of the horses. He said fifteen ships in the war and "fortunately had not replaced them," indicating the slump in the shipping business.

J. McCarthy, general manager of D. W. Griffiths, motion picture producer, returned with his wife from a visit in Ireland, and said that the moving picture business abroad was very quiet. He said that the British Government, secretary of civil administration department, Shantung Railway, on his way to the armament conference; Edward Armstrong, treasury attaché of the French Embassy in London; Frank N. Doubleday, head of the publishing firm, and Mrs. Doubleday, and Edward O'Brien, author.

Henry DeLeon, president of the American Hawaiian Steamship Company, sails for Europe to-day on the Aquitania. He will spend several months abroad in the interest of the Pacific coast business, which his company has recently inaugurated.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Plagg will return to-day to 109 East Fortieth street from Dongan Hills, S. I., for the winter.

Mrs. J. Fred Pierson, Jr., has returned to her apartment at 17 West Forty-ninth street from the Plaza Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor will give a dinner for fifty to-night, followed by a dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Manfield Ogden have closed their house in Tuxedo Park and will sail on the Carmania next Saturday to pass the winter in Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barton French have closed Daren's, their place at Southampton, and taken for the winter the house of Mr. William Allen Butler at 39 East Seventy-second street.

Mrs. and Mrs. Wilber Bloodgood and Miss Rosalie Bloodgood have returned from the Virginia Hot Springs to 49 East Thirty-fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Thorn Kissel, who have been for several months in Peapack, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. William Clark of Bernardsville are at the St. Regis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Van Weert have left Valleyview, their country place in Grier, N. Y., for 570 Park avenue.

Mr. Reginald Jaffray of Bermuda, after passing a few weeks in New York, will go to Italy for the winter.

Mrs. Charles H. Trux of 940 Park avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Woman's National Foundation.

A bridge tournament for the benefit of the new Fifth Avenue Hospital, which has been arranged by Mrs. H. Edward Manville, will be held this afternoon at the Biltmore. More than one hundred tables have been sold.

The benefit of the Little Sisters of the Assumption will be held this afternoon and evening in the new ballroom of the Plaza. The Countess de Launay-Villars and Mrs. Henry Sanders Taft will be in charge.

Miss Martha Maynard has returned from her summer place in Redding, Conn., to 129 East Seventy-sixth street.

Mrs. Barne Drake Smith and family of 17 East Fifth street are spending the winter at the Commodore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Leary will sail on the Aquitania to-day to be absent until January.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Townsend returned yesterday from Locust Valley, L. I. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Fox, will pass the winter with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham will give a dinner for forty at the Plaza the night of December 20 in advance of the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney are giving there in the new ballroom to introduce their daughter, Miss Joan Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Courtland Penfield will give a dinner for a few guests at 27 Fifth avenue, will sail on the Paris on November 25. They will motor from Havre to Cannes and after the holidays will go to their place in Menton on the Riviera for the winter.

Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks were among the guests at the dinner given last night by the Polish Minister and Princess Lubomirski.

Postmaster General Hays will leave for New York to-day to speak at a dinner to be given by the Fifth Avenue Association.

The President and Mrs. Harding and Senator and Mrs. Harry New went to the National Theatre last evening to see "The Merry Widow," as guests of Mrs. Harding's cousin, Mr. Charles P. Kling of Boston.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge spent last night with Gov. Sprague of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Sprague at Chester, Pa., after Mr. Coolidge had spoken in Philadelphia.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained last night at one of the series of dinners for foreign naval dignitaries, the guests being asked to meet Admiral de Bon of the French conference delegation.

The Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Goddard entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Embassy for foreign visitors here for the conference.

Galli-Curci New Queen of Song at Metropolitan,
Which Opens With Performance of 'La Traviata'

Portrait of Enrico Caruso Displayed by Directors in Tenor's Memory.

The thirteenth season of opera under the direction of Giulio Gatti-Casazza began one year ago at the Metropolitan Opera House with a production of Halévy's "La Juive." Enrico Caruso singing the role of Eliezer. The fourteenth season began last evening with a performance of Verdi's "La Traviata." Mme. Amelia Galli-Curci singing the role of Violetta Valéry.

Many profound lessons might be drawn from this transfer of the crown of royalty from the brow of a king of song to the gentle head of a queen, but the great army of the caretaker will merely cry "Le roi est mort: Vive la Reine!"

Nevertheless some of those in last evening's brilliant audience could not cease from mourning their loss. A handsome portrait, decked with palms and purple ribbons, stood in the upper corridor to show that the directors had not forgotten.

Mme. Galli-Curci, long known to local opera lovers, adored by those who exalt the beauty of naked song above all else in music, had not infrequently been heard elsewhere in "La Traviata," but her debut on the stage of the Metropolitan, a demonstration of the able impresario's desire to find a star to fill the suddenly darkened space in the lyric firmament, was welcomed with plaudits long and loud.

Beniamino Gigli, tenor, who made himself welcome last season, was the impersonator of Alfredo, the impassioned young gentleman, whose papa, like many other papas in the lifetime of the world, was so distressed about his infatuation for the virtuous vamp, Giuseppe de Luca represented papa, the summit of whose career is attained with the delivery of that immortal phrase of the heart's side known as "Di provenza." Both of our singers were cordially received on their return to the scenes of their former triumphs.

Mme. Galli-Curci seemed to be a victim of stage fright in her first scene. At any rate, her singing was not that of a great operatic singer. She sang frequently below the pitch and some of her phrasing was not in accord with her own former methods. In the scene with Alfredo, the illusion of a moon flattered demi-mondaine in a t of ill-timed, there was altogether too much staccato in both "Ah, fors e lui" and "Sempre libera." But the audience rewarded her efforts with quite palpable enthusiasm. The nature of the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's song seemed to carry well to all parts of the house.

It is hardly necessary to add that her impersonation of the lady of the camellias had charm and plaintive tenderness. If not profound pathos, the accents of agony are not found in the soprano's tones, and in the one or two passages of the score, where Violetta might perhaps start a tear, she evoked perhaps only a sigh. But the beauty of her voice was all that it used to be, and it is one of the most beautiful voices this public has ever heard. Those who wonder how it would sound as it had in the Metropolitan as it had in the Lexington and the Manhattan found their doubts quickly set at rest. Mme. Galli-Curci's